1.4.156
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant
Theodore Cottingham, April 28, 2006 2:15am www.unc.bz

1. The beginning has begun. And no one can turn it back/change it from being my heart is. I love you beginning in me. I love you Ted Cottingham. The beginning has begun, and no one will take it from me, perverting it/me for their own selfish purposes. I love you. I love you with such a pure love. I am sick for thee. I wear thee as an ornament upon my neck, layered not in time existence but reality real and purview given for the all-of-time.

2. See what I have said/stated and given/revealed. I love you sir/madam and all things are wed in thee. I am thine oh lord. I have heard thy voice. And it told/showed thy love to me. We takest our fill of love in the morning, not; now, the beginning has begun.

3. The beginning has begun. The beginning is now. The beginning is today. I love you. I love you. I love you deeply dearly sincerely permeatingly and time immemorially. There is nothing you don't have. You have/are all things. All things are inside of you. Thou havest my all. My dowry is complete. My me is you. You are my father's kingdom. My father's kingdom is my beloved. My beloved has made herself ready. All things ready. Come/coming to the feast all are.

4. Thou hast heard my cry for my love/lover.
I have feigned not my love in/for thee.
We reign together through/throughout the/for all ages.
I/we are one.

5. The beginning has begun.
The world,s know/will know our name.
Today is our name/being.
We are one.

6. The beginning has begun.
All things are in thee/me.
Thou hast wed the ancient of days, being the ancient of days, ancients of old theories not; the beginning has begun.
No clock turneth it/me back.
I am the past future'd.
I am thine oh lord.
My times are in thy hand,s.
We do/see all things well, are.
I lovest my/our lover.
We wed. We are one.

All things are ready.
The feast is prepared.
All are/have been invited.
The namecards/placards are distributed/on the table in/at each place.

7. I call you to the head.
For you lift me now.
You lifted me.
You bowed low.
You died and rose again.
Thou hast all things in thy hand/thinking.
Thy/your thought is pure/purest.
Pureology of only me, not; crystal.

8. See my invitations spread throughout the world,s systems of thought.
See our wedding picture,s.
Our romance never ends.
This is the beginning .

9. The beginning has begun.
I am thine/yours.
You are mine.
We have/are all things and there is nothing father has not given us.
We are him.
All are at our table.
The table is ready/made ready.
All the servants have made ready/waited for this day/appearing.
Feast day is here.
Celebration among the world,s.
All see my star.
The heavens declare my glory/glorious glory.
The heavens are yours.
You are mine.
I am thine.
We have become each other.

10. The beginning has begun.
Nothing will change time now.
The repentance has begun.
The sorrow has turned to morning joy.
The bridegroom dances.
Agony flees.
The bride adorned for her husband.
We bride/bridegroom are one.

Hosted by our father.
One with him.
We are him.
Wed for all to see.
Transparently we reign in humility/meekness.
The servants made ready.
All awaits our entry/entrance.
The drum rolls roll.
All eyes turn our way/direction.
The world,s now focus here/in us/on father's heart.
We are one/wed.
The worlds wait no more/longer.

11. The beginning has begun.
No man can claim credit/baggage.
All mercy to the father, our father, father of/in one.
One comes forth wed to one.
All passage/portal granted to surrenderers.
All ready/waiting, ready and waiting, lamps trimmed and burning and here, wed now, enter and see, and stay now, but reciprocal are, citizens/citizen'd of both.
The eternal in the wed is.
The noxious exists no more/longer. Never did. Never has.
There is only me/one.
And now the world,s know.
I am thine.
My all is yours/you.
We have laid at/in each others' feet/bosom.
We have become one.
We were.
We are again.
No one closes the portal again.
Thou art one.

12. The beginning has begun.
The beginning is now.
The beginning is today.
Radiant splendor'd one takes Isaiah 61 to all.
All who will.
Isaiah all.
Isaiah, all.
I love you Matthew Mark Luke and John; pandora's box not, but plethora of me in/is me.
You are.
We have him all.
We are him.

The world,s' riddles no more.
The kingdom is ours.

13. The beginning has begun.
All things made/are ready.
All things are made ready.
We walk the isles of man not; the/my kingdom: father's.
Dowry one, complete not; two.
You now, ancient'ing all who will/see.

14. The beginning has/is begun.
The beginning is us.
Two made one.
No wall of separation.
The veil crashes with thunder.
Fireworks ensue.
Celebration forever.
The beginning has/is begun.
I love you.
I love you.
You love me.
Transparently we love before/all the world,s.
I am thine.
We drink of/are father's love forever.
Death now grave'd.
I lovest thou my lover.
My lover has given me his all.
We are one.
The world,s never the same again.

15. The beginning has begun.
Amen.